

Loewenberg's innovative design and technical expertise enhances the built environment.

history

The origin of our commissions began in 1919 with vintage apartment hotels and small storefronts. The practice grew to the creation of highrise structures, adding to Chicago's architecturally diverse skyline. This rich history serves as catalyst for new urban frontiers with work throughout the country including residential, retail, office, governmental, educational, health care, financial institutions and the creation of large multi-use communities today. This record continues to shape our lasting legacy.

civic involvement

Civic and philanthropic agencies in the community enlist Loewenberg's corporate support. The pro-bono design of Chicago Youth Program's state-of-the-art facility for "at risk" youth is just one example of emphasis on our commitment to service. Loewenberg and its employees champion a host of local, regional, and national professional organizations.
